

At 19, Robert Bannon has already sung in some of the world's major venues - the Sydney Opera House, the Royal Albert Hall, Westminster Cathedral and Vatican City where he performed for Pope Benedict XVI. Raised in Birkenhead on Merseyside, Robert still returns there regularly to sing in his church.

Now in his debut album Love will find a Way, Robert sings and plays some of his favourite songs from the modern musicals together with a selection of inspiring Church items from writers like Graham Kendrick and CJM Music.

Classically trained and blessed with a rare talent, a beautiful natural countertenor voice, Robert will enthral you with his performances of such classics as Memory from Cats, Stars from Les Miserables, I know him so well from Chess and many more.

Memory
The Lord is my Shepherd
Somewhere out There
How Beautiful
I dreamed a dream
You are my hands
Stars
When I survey the wondrous cross
I know him so well
King of Kings
Wishing you were somehow here again
Love will find a way
